Claim 4 remains withdrawn from consideration and the election requirement is hereby made final.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hlousek (JP ('173)) in view of Japan ('495).

Hlousek teaches all of the limitations of these claims except a specific teaching of a biasing means. The arrow (10) shown in Figure 1 clearly implies that the camshaft may be biased in either direction by driving forces. These forces are resisted by the stop surfaces on (9), which are within the housing.

Disc members (14) hit the stop (9) to resist axial movement.

Japan ('495) teaches that it is common to use a helical gear to drive a camshaft for an injection pump. Such a gear will drive the shaft in one direction and the device has a disc that is used to stop movement in the opposite direction.

It would have been obvious to modify Hlousek by driving the camshaft using a helical gear because this was a common gear drive for such pumps and such a gear inherently creates an axial force on the camshaft, said force designed to be resisted by the central bearing of Hlousek.

Claims 5-9 are allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
